------	--------	---------	--------	-------	-------	------	-------	--------	--------

These words are very familiar to you and they are the common words used in the Qur'an and Sunnah extensively. Now, see their Arabic forms:

Imam	Masjid	Madinah	Makkah	Islam	Kitab	Nabi	Rasul	Sunnah	Qur'an

Now, see if you can figure out meanings of the sentences made up with مِنْ in the centre and its surrounding words in the following bee-cycle:

Lesson 1

		مِنَ الرَّسُولِ			مِنَ اللَّهِ
		مِنَ الرَّسُولِ إِلَى الْإِمَامِ			مِنَ اللَّهِ إِلَى الرَّسُولِ

Grammar rules: 1 (classification of Arabic words)

Arabic words are mainly classified into 3 as follows:

Examples	meaning
الله، ولي، شك، مغفرة	Noun, Pronoun	الاسم	1
	Verb	الفعل	2
لا، من، في، إن	Preposition, conjunction	الحرف	3

Grammar Rules: 2 حُرُوفُ الْجَرِّ Huruf al-Jarr

In Arabic, end harakat (vowel) of each word in a sentence is determined by some rules. It is important to understand how these rules impact the end letter of each word in a sentence.

Amongst Harf, there are 13 words which are called Huruf Al-Jarr حروف الجر (The full list of these prepositions will be given to later on, InshaAllah). These prepositions come before nouns and they give Kasrah (كسرة) at the end letter of the word, when the noun is singular and broken plural. See how does it work in the following examples.

في الله	في + الله	الله	في	1
من الله	من + الله	الله	من	2

Grammar Keys: 3 Rules of إِنَّ

When إِنَّ and other five harf (أَنَّ، كَأَنَّ، لَيْتَ، لَكِنَّ، لَعَلَّ) comes before a noun they give fat-hah (فتحة) on the end letter of the noun, provided the noun is singular or a broken plural.

Follow the examples below and see how the end harakat of the word الله has changed to a fathah.

لَعَلَّ اللهُ	لَعَلَّ + اللهُ	الله	لَعَلَّ	1
إِنَّ اللهُ	إِنَّ + اللهُ	الله	إِنَّ	2
